How can I use strategy rings?

Strategy rings are a great resource to share with students. Each strategy card is mini (one quarter of a page) and includes all the important details students need to remember about one bite-sized topic. After you teach a lesson you can share the strategy card with students. They can place it on their ring and refer back to it during independent practice.

- Use strategy rings during your small group lesson.
- Give each student a strategy ring to keep at their desk.
- Place a strategy ring in your workstations.
- Send home strategy rings with students so parents can use them at home.
